

ANNUAL NON-SENIOR EVENT!

Students attended Plymouth State University, where we competed against other JAG Program in Field Day Activities.

Specialist Speaks

As the school year comes to a close, the students are preparing for finals, and summer plans. A few have already begun their summer jobs, and others have begun looking for them. We have begun planning for next year, and recruiting new students for the fall. If there is any students who you feel might be a good fit for JAG, please feel free to recommend them to either myself or guidance.

I wish you all have a wonderful summer! - Anna Gilbert

Business of the month

LDR Production

Lisa Davy of LDR was helpful and critical in helping Laconia High School design and create the JAG t-shirts this year. LDR Production has been a local t-shirt design firm that has helped to create many different clothing designs for both faculty, sports teams and academic teams for years. Laconia and it's students are lucky to have such a talented firm to keep them looking sharp.

Did You Know?

Approximately 80% of college students change their major at least once during their college career. In fact on average, college students change their major three times until they are able to settle on a major they really enjoy.

So stop fretting and enjoy learning!

Mr. Reed and I traveled with the underclassman, to compete in an obstacle course, a trike race, minute it to win it, basketball shoot, mixed relay and giant volleyball. All the students did well working together in order to bring home big wins in the team flag and the basketball shoot; winning first place, second place in the obstacle course and the JAG puzzle and third place in A Minute to Win It!

The Face of NH-JAG

Samira Dlnarica

Samira is a Junior, who is making a real effort in completing her high school degree. Having moved to Laconia from Brooklyn, NY; the change has been a difficult one for Samira. She works hard, and tries to get involved in the classroom activities. This month, Samira has really shown us what she can do, when she puts her all into her project.

Where Are They Now?

Amanda Percy

Amanda Percy has done well recently, she is still living in Laconia. She has been attending Lakes Region Community College; where she has been working on earning and graduated with her certificate as an LNA. She hopes to obtain a job working with the elderly . She also hopes to be able to continue her dream of one day joining the Marines.

EXCELLENT WORK!
